

INTERNATIONAL STUDY PROJECT TO ROME

Penury and unequal food and water repartition - Discovering the Food and Agriculture Organization

Join the International Study Project 2016 to Rome!

This year, Junes gives you the opportunity to visit the Food and Agriculture Organization in Rome, as well as the city's cultural monuments. We all heard about the Expo in Milan last year, whose theme was Feeding the planet, Energy for life. This study trip's objectives aims at providing students an insight into the stakes about the access to food and water, the most basic human right. The project wants the students to understand this issue which promises to grow bigger in the following years and to encourage the reflection and the discussion about the subject.

Of course, Rome has so much to offer, we won't miss to visit the main monuments: the Colosseum, whose visit is included in the price, the Vatican and its Sistine Chapel, the Mouth of the Truth, the Trevi Fountain, the National Roman Museum, the San Lorenzo neighborhood.

A previous workshop will be held on August, 26th in Geneva. The presence is mandatory, as a guest speaker will be invited to hold a conference about a subject such as the food speculation as well as the water penury.

Save the dates: from August, 29th until September, 3rd.

The registration price is 180CHF, which includes the flight, the accommodation, the Colosseum visit, and the transports in Rome.

Apply now! Send us your CV to discover Rome in an exclusive trip, to enjoy Italian hospitality and culture as well as taking part in this valuable project about food repartition!
